

NOVEMBER 10 - 13, 2017

"Designing a dream city is easy; rebuilding a living one takes imagination."

Jane Jacobs

The modern city is controlled by political, financial and environmental factors that force neighborhoods into patterns of decline and regrowth. Architects throughout history - whether building anew or rectifying the past - believe in the utopian ideal that architecture can influence society for the better. This year's ArCH film series investigates how citizens, developers, historians, politicians, designers and community leaders activate the city within the parameters of policy.

Friday, November 10th

5:00pm Happy Hour Kick-Off, Honeymoon Cafe
7:00pm If You Build It, Buffalo Bayou Partnership

Saturday, November 11th

10:00am Buffalo Bayou Walking Tour, 902 Commerce St
3:00pm Citizen Jane: Battle for the City, Rice Media Center

Sunday, November 12th

3:00pm I Look Up Film Challenge, Buffalo Bayou Partnership

Monday, November 13th

7:00pm Columbus, Rice Media Center

visit aiahouston.org for more information.

