Inside/Out would not have been possible without the generous support of two grants: A University of Houston New Faculty Research grant, and a Rice Design Alliance Initiatives for Houston grant, pursued by and awarded to Gregory Marinic, former director of the Interior Architecture program.

We would also like to thank Dean Patricia Oliver for her support of the exhibition, lecture and reception. This project benefited greatly from the support and guidance of Gregory Marinic, the former Director of the Interior Architecture program; Susan Rogers, the Director of the Community Design Resource Center; Insight Structures, and all of our invited critics who offered essential comments and suggestions during the development of the project. Additionally, we thank Olivet Missionary Baptist Church, Pastor Robert Thomas, and the Thomas family for their trust and support during this process. Finally, thank you to the spring 2015 INAR 3501 students, the CDRC student researchers, and the Fifth Ward seminar/workshop team, whose hard work, patience, and creativity have made this project possible.
